Training 2021: Taking responsibility and receiving support

Bad Berleburg-Raumland. If you are looking for a challenge at the beginning of your professional life, if you are not afraid of new tasks and if you are eager to learn about work processes and the interrelationships in a family-run trading and production company, BIKAR-METALLE is the right place for you. Because here it is not only a matter of imparting specialized knowledge in the best possible form, but also of welcoming the company's trainees as independent colleagues right from the start and promoting them in this respect.

The facts surrounding the company speak for themselves: BIKAR is the leading non-ferrous metal trader in Germany and Europe. Already in its third generation, the family-owned company supplies more than 20,000 customers from a wide range of industries with plate, sheet, blanks, bars, profiles and tubes. Every day, more than 600 employees fulfill the large and small wishes of customers ranging from local small businesses to industry giants from the automotive and aircraft construction sectors. Two large production sites in Bad Berleburg and Korbußen (Thuringia) and 20 sales offices around the world provide exciting challenges in a global business.

expectations as a team and to overcome hurdles together.

However, one thing is the same in all training courses: Training at BIKAR means responsibility from the first day of training. The trainees are fully integrated in the various training departments from the very beginning. In order to achieve this, the 12 trainers support the young colleagues in all matters and exemplify what it means to regularly exceed expectations as a team and to overcome hurdles together.

An important pillar of training at BIKAR is, of course, school-based training. The trainees are not left alone in this. For many years, the company has offered in-house instruction in addition to vocational school instruction. This system currently features one of the many BIKAR success stories in the context of training: the lessons are led by former BIKAR trainee Lina Piosczyk, who decided to study to become a vocational school teacher after completing her training with outstanding results. "I really enjoyed my apprenticeship at BIKAR and now it provides me with a very good foundation for my current studies," says Lina Piosczyk. In the process, she supports the trainees in repeating and deepening current school topics, answers questions and helps them study for exams and tests. However, due to her previous training at BIKAR, she can also help with questions on internal topics with first-hand tips.

"The great results of our trainees in the past years are proof that our commitment pays off. Both at school and in the company, our trainees deliver top performance and thus help to ensure that our company continues to develop. We are proud to have so many of our former trainees as important members of our team today," explains Ingo Miss, head of training, authorized signatory and 15 years ago a trainee at BIKAR himself. He hopes that many committed young people will follow his path and start their careers in the Raumland family business.

For all young people who are currently still looking for a suitable apprenticeship, BIKAR continues to offer apprenticeships in the following areas for 2021: In addition to commercial apprenticeships as industrial clerks (m/f/d) or clerks in wholesale and foreign trade management (m/f/d), BIKAR also trains specialists for warehouse logistics (m/f/d), industrial mechanics (m/f/d) or as machine and plant operators (m/f/d). In a company that is constantly growing and pursuing major plans in the areas of automation and expansion of production capacities, the training of qualified specialists is of great importance.
